EX LIBRIS

The

TALISMAN

DEDICATION

*W*e, the class of nineteen hundred forty-three, dedicate this Talisman to the former members of Rutland High School who are in the service of our nation, and are striving to preserve all that has been established and has come to be a part of our beliefs during the past one hundred and sixty-seven years.

Foreword

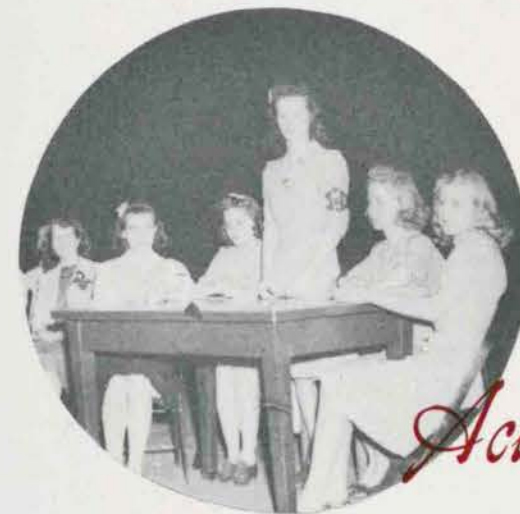

In all probability, our class, the class of nineteen hundred forty-three, in a few months will be widely dispersed and scattered all over the globe to an extent never before realized by foregoing classes.

With such conditions in mind we offer the 1943 Talisman in the hope that it will be a lasting bond, if not the only bond, to act as a common memoir to all seniors, and as a valuable record to all underclassmen.

The difficulties of creating a war-time year-book are manifold, and almost insurmountable, but to whatever success our publication may be entitled we wish to thank the faculty for their general interest and cooperation, the student body for its constructive curiosity and ready assistance, our faculty adviser, Miss Madeline Flynn, our staff photographers and our business board for their admirable persistence.

MR. FAIRCHILD, Superintendent of Schools

All Americans must be prepared to defend individual freedom which we have taken for granted up to this critical time. May the lessons you have learned from life and from school be of service to you as you carry on the great fight for freedom begun at Bunker Hill and Yorktown.

W. W. FAIRCHILD

MR. MAYO, Principal

Now that you have completed your work in the high school I wish to congratulate you on the achievement. I feel that this honor amply repays those who have sacrificed for your welfare.

Whether you enter upon your life work, or enter the services of your country I want you to feel free to call upon the school for further service if necessary, because our interest in you does not end with graduation. Your achievements in the future should be an inspiration to those who follow you.

Class Song

Words: JOYCE WOOD

Music: ROBERT BARCH

Our chins are up, our step is firm,
And we will hold our heads high,
As to our Alma Mater now we bid goodbye——
The class of '43, we are proud that we
Can join the fight for right
And speed the victory.
And so with courage in each heart
To meet what lies before,
We now go bravely forth to face a world at war.
Firm and steady, we are ready,
As we march away with a bold step today.

School days now all behind us lie
As we take our leave of old Rutland High——
All the play and fun,
And the work we've done,
Songs that we know so well,
Cheers that we used to yell
While the band would play——
How those trumpets pealed!——
Each frosty day on the football field——
To these we now must say goodbye.

As we listen, through the air, everywhere,
Faint sweet strains of Amici sound, all around;
And to us all they seem to say,
"You must go! You must go! But you know
That although you're leaving
Friends behind you, there's no need for grieving;
Friendship will endure.
You may be sure
'Twill outlive farewell."

President's Address

STANLEY L. BURNS

All too soon, graduation, the culminating event of our high school years, is upon us. We have waited four years for this occasion, and now it is with sadness that we leave Rutland High School and go on to new endeavors.

As we glance back we see years of friendship, fun and construction. As we look ahead, we face a world of turbulence and strife which will undoubtedly be the test of our courage and ability.

To many of us, graduation will mean entering the armed forces of our country. To others it will mean serving in the army behind the army, in essential war industries and auxiliary corps. Wherever we may be called to serve, or in whatever course we may choose to follow through life, we shall realize and appreciate almost immediately the value of our training here at Rutland High School.

As we become alumni let us not forget our parents, our teachers and our friends who made it possible for us to enjoy these four years of work and fun. May our future achievements justify their efforts.

Class History

ROBERT E. BLAY

In the month of September, 1939, two hundred and sixteen terrified and wide-eyed freshmen, sneaked through the side door of Rutland High School. We were, for the most part, graduates of Meldon; and clutching our intermediate school diplomas tightly in our fists we began our first day at R. H. S.

We were not an unusual group. In previous years freshmen made mistakes on their first day in high school. Our class was no exception. We did everything from going down the wrong stairs to playfully tripping a monitor and breaking his leg.

After a week of bewilderment we finally became adjusted to the system and rules of the school. The upper classmen treated us like old friends, gaily knocking us in the face, and putting glue in the girls' hair.

Our first social event was the Reception, where, as freshmen we were privileged to be guests of honor. Later in the year we elected our class representatives who were as follows: Joyce Wood, President; Stanley Burns, Vice-President; Allan Merritt, Secretary; and Paul Hood, Treasurer. After much toil and hard work we disguised ourselves as upper classmen and became sophomores.

In September 1940, we bravely entered through the front door. Many of the boys' pockets bulged with such equipment as blackjacks, horsewhips and newspapers with which to exercise their authority over the fresh stock of newcomers.

Many of our members were attracted to clubs, sports and the band. We were told that when we were freshmen we lacked interest because we did not know the meaning of "extra curricular activities."

Our politicians this year were many and varied, but when the votes were counted our leaders were: President, Joyce Wood; Vice-President, Joseph Hitzel; Secretary, Allan Merritt; and Treasurer, Merritt Thomas. With these leaders we had an enjoyable though uneventful year.

Having been thoroughly seasoned during these two years as under classmen we earnestly and confidently entered our junior year. Now we had grown to immense proportions—at least physically. No longer did we beat helpless freshmen. Instead we settled down to more important things, such as sports, dances and parties. Studying still came in a poor second for many of us. Our outstanding social event was the Junior Prom. As co-chairmen we chose Joan McKee and Betty Morse who put their committees through their paces so that the dance was termed a success, both socially and financially. During the last assembly of the year the monitor squad picked twenty-four of our members to serve as law-enforcers for the next year. The National Honor Society claimed Jean Leavitt, Earle Clifford, Allan Merritt and Stanley Burns, as members in this exalted and honorary organization. We also chose our class ring. Some were worn only a few days and then turned over to a friend. Our leader at this time was Stanley Burns ably assisted by Peter Louras and Marshall Baldwin.

Upon entering our senior year our group had diminished to the exclusive little number of one hundred and forty-two. I shall briefly enumerate the outstanding events: First, we lost our football captain, "Al" Romano to the Marines and if "Al" bowls over the Japs as he did opposing linesmen he will be a great asset to the Allies indeed. Stanley Burns was elected our class president; Robert Barch, our vice-president; and Jean Leavitt, our secretary-treasurer.

The National Honor Society initiated John Phillips, Juliet Jenney, Joyce Wood, Mary Hleba, Betty Morse and Dorothy Whitney into their number.

The Senior play "Mrs. Miniver" drew a large audience and was admirably presented with Dorothy Whitney in the title role, and Richard Park as her husband. They were ably supported by Juliet Jenney, Marion Rogers, George Tappan, Joyce Wood, Earle Clifford, Nancy Holt, Louise Harman, Merle Wilson, Jean Townsend and William Ginsburg.

Jean Leavitt won the annual "good citizenship" award, presented by the State D. A. R. Jean won this award in competition with about sixty other Vermont girls.

Our Senior Reception chairman "Soddy" Hitzel left for the Army Air Corps in May and his friendly smile and winning personality was missed by everyone. Patricia Douglas and Joan McKee acted as co-chairmen of the reception committee.

For outstanding scholastic ability our valedictorian and salutatorian were Joyce Wood and Earle Clifford, respectively.

Noteworthy achievements were made by Paul Pitts as editor-in-chief of the Talisman, and by Joyce Wood as head of the school paper.

The chairmen of the various committees for Senior Week were: Class Night, Colburn Aldrich; Commencement, John Phillips; Banquet, Merritt Thomas; Baccalaureate, Helen Eaton; and Ivy Planting, Bradford Rousseau.

The essayists chosen this year were Stanley Burns, Earle Clifford, Dorothy Whitney and Joyce Wood.

All too soon high school will be but a memory. Both boys and girls will leave to fight in one capacity or another. No matter how far we may travel we shall never forget Rutland High—our teachers who helped us cover so many pitfalls, our fellow students, who are all in their hearts "just kids," and the brick building itself where so many memories are stored. Yes, our years at R. H. S. will live forever in the minds of each of us graduating into this war-torn world.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT BLAY

Class Prophecy

ROBERT C. BARCH

The interpretations of our honorable personalities serve as the key to the door of that mysterious chamber of the future and a post-war world wherein distance and space are conquered by mechanical genius and every home sports an helicopter.

Come on, my mateys, let's take off from the roof of my Alexander Home in New York, designed by Reginald the Earnest, and enjoy a casual stop-and-flop flight in my Junior Helicopter built by Hugny and Company.

Let us stop on the roof of the Colburn Night Club which is a swanky place with unrationed hot air.

"Marv" Berger is the joint treasurer and bouncer of the Colburn Club.

This is the seat of "Louisey" Harman's all-girl orchestra of shepherd's pipes. Gee! These girls have the smoke. As we glance about we see many celebrities.

Ah! "Ray" Barker who still barks louder than the rest of us wolves is in the company of Virginia Ferraro, Edith Fee, Norma Brown and Helen Eaton, devoted students of books, education and men. Did I say men?

There's Fred Kinson who has consented to accept the presidency finally surrendered by President Roosevelt.

Behind Fred is "Dom" Ferraro with his good-luck helmet from R. H. S. He now plays for Notre Dame and all the other dames.

Genealogist Caroline Dickinson has retraced her ancestry. She fails to find any relationship to the American poet, Emily Dickinson.

My, if it isn't Anastasia Boretos, the super-artist, who balances all kinds of figures with her brush and not a pencil.

Next to that big window is George Boynton of the intelligence department. He discovered a new brain food and is waiting for it to take effect.

Near the orchestra we see Thelma Lane. She's telling hair-raising stories to bald-headed "Dick" Davine.

Class Prophecy

Why, that's Judge Bob Blay, Justice of the Peace. He still is interested in young ladies' case histories.

Enough of society, let's jump into Junior and go putt-putting over to the Carnival of "Carrot Top" Hasbrook and buzz around the ferris wheel. "Walt's" secretary, Julia Gerdon, has her office on the fifth rung of the wheel.

Below is George Ellwood, operator and mouth organist who plays his conception of the hit "Moonlight Becomes You."

Helen Hughes gazes from the top of the wheel into one of the sawdust rings starring Janet Anne Carder Roving-off, a Russian dancer under the disabled guidance of "Doc" J. C. Coloutti.

"Attention please!" We hear a voice from a microphone, "Earle W. Clifford, Jr., the third, the son of Earl Winchester, the sports writer and eminent autobiographer, has been lost near the tent of Nan Bradder, the Elephant Girl." Well, Nan has graduated from pony-riding.

We drift above the foodless stand of Frank Baker who is fond of making dough, but can't seem to make it stick.

"Don" Goddard, "Dick" Lane and "Teddy" Frankiewicz are selling minced pies to women and at the same time gazing upon their minced pans.

Flora Hoyt is owner of a successful cafeteria which boasts the motto, "Today's toast is tomorrow's bread pudding."

No, guess not, Helen didn't Bernor self nor did Dorothy Fredette herself because we find they are the best of cooks for the best of men at "Kay's" shop, the sign of the Derby.

Helmi Koitto is making indigestible popcorn while John Killary, world's fastest ski breaker shoots the corn to us from a sling-shot.

Having partaken and fallen victim to indigestion, we go to unmarried Doctor Burns whose charm and personality cure more patients than his medicine.

Joan Benham is his assisting nurse even though Doctor Burns needs but little assistance.

The best cure for all ills is a visit to the hunting camp of Barbara, goddess of the Chase, in Whipple Hollow.

Ralph Kinney claims, and Mary Jasmin agrees, that Salt Lake City is to the Mormons as Whipple Hollow is to us Morons.

We can see through Junior's stainless glass windows, Ella Gilman and Lois Fenton down there leaping around for frog's legs.

Class Prophecy

And we see—A Hem! Paul is boosting his ego by trying to find and then sit on the tack of success from which he is certain to rise quickly.

We hear some rural reports over Junior's radio stating that "Al" Foy's orange pants have been lost, strayed or stolen. He wishes the culprit to return them immediately to avoid any exposure on his part.

Professor "Bill" Ginsburg announces his discovery of an Oscar species of the flying flea. Since we are allergic, we shall hasten away from this to California and visit "Judy" Jenney's exquisite coat manufactory. Phyllis Crawford, Ruth Brooks, Roberta Lawrence, Margaret Jeannotte and "Tantalize-yeh Cliff" Grover are her distinctively misused models.

Muriel Johnson and Evelyn Boynton sell "Judy's" creations produced from banana fibers which makes them easy to pull off and slip on.

Junior is running out of "fire-water" so we must stop at the Jasmin distillery. Doris is a very able helicopter attendant.

Well, if it isn't "Dot" Dahlgren. She came very near owning a perpetual ticket to Sing Sing for overloading her helicopter with just such hitchhikers as Elsie Foote.

Hollywood, the center of television, is the home of The Marshall Baldwin Emaciated Television Company.

Flash! Pat Douglas is a new vision-star, pant, pant, who plays the lead in Anne Greene's play "When Garofano Was in the Dark." Also in the play Doreen B. King is the queen of jig. She certainly can toss around a mean heel.

Yes, there are many cute situations at Hollywood especially at the beach where the Hleba sisters are life guards. For a pastime they have turned to chasing wolves.

John Dumouchel rents flat bottomless boats to Nancy Holt who has cashed in her War Savings Bonds and is now very healthy, wealthy and wise.

That reminds me. We've got some unfinished business back in 1943. Let's return now and "do it up brown."

ROBERT BARCH

Class Will

JULIET D. JENNEY

I, Judy Jenney, alone in my opium-scented den, at four o'clock in the morning on this, the fourth day of May, 1943, do hereby christen this, the will of the class of 1943, in the name of Frank W. Mayo and under the authority of Barter's Music Store, myself having been duly proved both sane and sober by the negative results of a blue litmus test. Hence and forever, be it known that the class of 1943 has much to bequeath, both material and spiritual, and may Allah keep us from all malicious intent.

An outstanding member of our class, Robert Potter (Potts) gives one of his personal talents, his singing ability, to Harry Wiggins—besides leaving his saddle shoes to the German underseas fleet with the faint hope that they will bring about a crack in Nazi morale.

Avis Reynolds leaves the bandage on her knee to Barb Harris who is always falling hard——!

Kenneth Nourse leaves a copy of his own edited encyclopedia and dictionary because he feels the school won't be able to continue without him.

Polly Woodfin half-heartedly leaves her college dates to Margy Jones.

Orin Thomas leaves the route to 49 Temple Street to anyone with gas of which he has plenty.

Shirley Loyzelle leaves quite a bit . . .

George Tappan hopes the new monitors can be on duty longer than he was.

Donald Papineau leaves his wavy hair to Joe Kudera who would give anything to have it in his possession.

Merle Wilson leaves her bass, tenor, alto and soprano singing voice to anyone who likes variety.

Joe Stanley leaves his yellow coupe to Mr. Purdy who hates to walk up a hill.

Class Will

"Mott" Wiggins donates the Country Club road to the public. We sincerely feel that she has had priorities long enough.

Glenn Smith leaves his cows to anyone with hay.

Marian Rogers leaves because she keeps seeing "Red."

Bradford Rousseau leaves his deep voice to Edwin Sharp so that Edwin will no longer have to be understood by a nod of the glasses or a shrug of the shoulders.

Marion Stevens leaves her alto singing voice to Mary Louise Burditt who gets tired of singing soprano.

Paul Mehl leaves his Western Union uniform to Donald Ross—generous of him . . . !

Enid Manheim wills her picture of George Montgomery to be placed beside Cicero for the posterity of Rutland High School. Just imagine what George will soon look like if he receives the same treatment Cicero has been undergoing!

Douglas Scott doesn't leave anything; he feels he'll need everything he has.

Margaret Nutting and Mildred Young will their engagement rings to anyone who is fearful that she'll become an old maid.

Ernest White bequeaths his natural curiosity to anyone interested in wine, women and photography.

Elaine Spencer generously gives to Girls' Chorus a bottle of chloroform which should be used on Pat Tennien when she gets beyond control.

Earle Manning leaves his trousers and his trumpet with the local draft board. He'll soon be in Trinidad.

Lorrayne Thorsson gives a book to the Sophomore Bridge Club entitled "HOW TO PLAY BRIDGE."

Reginald Swyer, who never crosses a street until a seismograph has declared the total stoppage of all traffic within a ten-mile area, leaves his natural caution to the four winds.

Virginia Mitchell wills her job in the Economy to anyone who likes to wrap bedspreads, cushions or stools.

Grennell Riggs gives his Pontiac coupe to the Green Mt. Horse Association.

"Cis" Stearns leaves a huge check to "Potts" so he can further his education—and get married at the same time.

Lyle Morron leaves his wallet to the moths ('cause they'll get it anyway).

Mary Onion leaves her position in Litamis to anyone who is ambitious enough to fill it.

Dick Park bequeaths his suspenders . . . No! On second thought he bequeaths his necktie to the signal corps . . .

Dorothy Whitney gladly gives her job as treasurer of Junior Woman's Club and she hopes they can balance the books without the president getting the money all mixed up.

Class Will

John Phillips is leaving to fulfill the job of policeman—at which he ought to be good, after regulating traffic at Rutland High School as head monitor.

Mary Sawyer leaves as quietly as she came . . .

Bernard McKearin donates his tongue to Swift and Company (he never uses it, anyway).

Joyce Wood has already willed the Red and White to Raymond Johnson, but she hopes he doesn't have a feature writer like Paul Pitts who never did get his article in on time.

Elmer Peck: quiet, good looking, baseball ability; what can you ask him to leave?

Sarah Stannard leaves a cake to be put under glass so that when the Home Ec. Club gets hungry next year they will have something to eat.

Carlos Onion bequeaths his sailboat to anyone that can travel five miles underwater without air.

Joyce Lee leaves her artistic talents to the Mt. Wilson observatory, inasmuch as she has recently been possessed of a mad desire to draw Hailey's comet and the planets in to all of her artistic creations. (Even the cover of this book.)

Jimmy Phalen offers the "Phalen Magnetic Wallet Snatcher" to anyone who will promise to operate it faithfully, and bestow loving care upon it.

Shirley Ross leaves her musical ability to the Freshman Class—they need something!

Jean Townsend gives her chemistry book to Bob Martin who she hopes will be able to take off the jinx!

Melvin Sheppard leaves his football ability to Frank Mack and Earl Pratt.

Aileen Mangan leaves R. H. S. with the feeling that there aren't anymore Mangans to carry on.

Paul (Pierre) Pitts leaves his career as an undertaker to anyone with a horse-pistol and a violent temper. He has decided to become a slave trader.

Marian Sumner leaves a left-handed monkey wrench to the machine shop.

Armand Stanzione leaves his basketball ability to Bruce Wing.

Betty Morse leaves her smile to the lion in Miss Bailey's room that it may ever after spread cheerfulness upon French students for generations to come.

Bob Mitchell leaves for Berlin clad in Greek armor, bullet-proof underwear and a 1938 Ford. The Axis must be defeated by Carolyn's birthday.

Lillian Sanderson leaves her new hair-do to the Cherokees. What a trophy!

George Wood leaves his diary of school life for the dairy of real life.

Betty Plumley leaves her heart to any Springfield worker who has a wallet full of money and a cellar full of tires.

Richard Ross leaves his deep appreciation of red heads to Brud Ogden, who's always looking at the bright side of life.

Class Will

Joan McKee wills Alan Snyder to a deserving junior.

Dick (Deacon) Walbridge gives his morbid black raincoat to Tossing's Funeral Home.

Bill Stickney leaves his job in Woolworth's to Gay's Express Company.

Frederick (Fibber) McGee leaves his endless craving for burning cigarettes to the custody of the boiler room, where fire is at a premium.

Dorothy Stanley leaves for Proctor where life proves to be more interesting.

Donald Walker leaves his butch hair-cut to the Fuller Brush Company. He's not the first, nor will he be the last. Someone else'll use this line again next year. There's one in every class!

Marion Sharp leaves with Caroline Dickinson—as usual.

Hiram Stratton leaves his teeth to the Bryant Chuck and Grinder Company.

Walt Norton wills the rivets out of his bootheels to the "Drive for Scrap Copper."

Pete Louras leaves . . . Need we say more!

Jean Leavitt leaves to her successor at the airplane spotting post these following suggestions: In sub-zero weather don't bring coca-cola and expect to leave it outdoors to get cold (the bottle is bound to break); don't sweep the hut when there is a heavy gale outside; and last but not least, be sure you have a capable companion that can help fold a flag.

Hazen Spaulding leaves to play with Jimmy Miller and his Saddlemates.

Elwin (Boogit) Stevens bequeaths his glasses to the "Ajax Death-Ray Corporation."

Cyril (Cereal) Manney leaves his sleigh and his horses to Erwin Rommel. (Erwin'll need them when he strikes the North Pole.)

Allan Merritt bequeaths his super-personality smile to the Polident Corporation."

Bev Martel leaves her willingness to listen to some of Miss Moran's stories to any future Economics student.

Bob Barch gives his patience, wit and enjoyment in writing the "Class Prophecy" to his successor. He says, "Don't get discouraged, I often got an inspiration once a week. Just start three or four months before I did, then you might finish it on time."

In witness whereof, I have hereunto affixed my hand and seal and declared this to be the last will and testament of the class of 1943, in the presence of Carolyn Lee Allen on this, the eleventh day of May, 1943.

Organizations and The World of Activities

National Honor Society

No honor conferred by Rutland High School excels that of being chosen for membership in the National Honor Society. During their junior and senior years the members are selected by the faculty on the basis of high rank in scholarship, constant willingness to serve, ability to lead and unquestionable character. The Rutland branch of the society completed an active and progressive year with Allan Merritt, President; Earle Clifford, Vice-President; Jean Leavitt, Secretary; and Stanley Burns, Treasurer; and Miss Marie W. Johnson, Faculty Adviser.

The outstanding event in the year's roster was the induction ceremony in April which the student body attended. Mr. W. W. Fairchild, Superintendent of Schools, was the guest speaker. Following an exposition of the four cardinal principles: Scholarship, Leadership, Service and Character by Earle Clifford, Jean Leavitt, Allan Merritt and Stanley Burns, respectively, new members were initiated in an impressive candle-lighting ceremony. The Seniors who became members were Mary Hleba, Juliet Jenney, Betty Morse, John Phillips, Dorothy Whitney and Joyce Wood. The Juniors inducted were Alfred Beauchamp, Mary Louise Burditt, Robert Martin and Eleanor Smith.

Seated: Miss Marie W. Johnson, Faculty Adviser, Stanley Burns, Alan Merritt, Earle Clifford, Jean Leavitt.
Standing: Alfred Beauchamp, Betty Morse, Mary Hleba, Joyce Wood, Dorothy Whitney, Eleanor Smith, Mary Louise Burditt, Juliet Jenney, John Phillips.

Student Council

President	ALLAN MERRITT
Vice-President	ALFRED BEAUCHAMP
Secretary-Treasurer	ROBERT PERKINS

The Student Council comprised of the home room presidents, and presided over by Mr. Howard W. Douglas instituted a definite and permanent plan for Student Council Officer and Class Officer elections. Under the supervision of Student Council members all elections were held as scheduled.

As in previous years the Student Council carried out the home room competitive system, and awarded the ship for the highest rating for the first semester to Room 111. The home room standings are based on home room inspection, scholastic and athletic achievement.

One of the projects sponsored by the council was the sale of defense stamps inaugurated on the first anniversary of the Pearl Harbor attack. A Raider Victory Jeep was purchased in record time, and a Minute Man Jeep was the next goal.

Various cases were brought before the student government for judgment. A committee met regularly to rewrite the Constitution.

Front Row: Herrick Cooke, David Claypoole, Mary Louise Burditt, Shirley Blair, Shirley Ross, Robert Barch.

Orchestra

Although composed for the most part of new members, the orchestra showed signs of marked improvement during the past nine months. Directed by Mrs. Robert Rowe, the orchestra played for the Senior Play "Mrs. Miniver," for the Defense Stamp Drive held on December 7 in commemoration of Pearl Harbor, and for the Men's Club of the Congregational Church at the Community House. A picked group of ten orchestra members led by seasoned trombonist, Al Beauchamp, played for the grade school Gym Exhibition held in the high school gymnasium late last winter. The orchestra also furnished music for the various song assemblies held throughout the year, including the assembly sponsored by the art classes in which music and art were alternated.

Band

"Take that cigar away from my plume!" "Give me back the mouth-piece to my trumpet." "Look out—here comes Romano!"

Ably directed by Mr. Robert Rowe, the band made itself a focal point of student interest early in the year when it graced the splendor of all home football games with its pomp and glitter. Following Mr. Rowe's entrance into the United States Marine Corps, as the result of the competence and untiring effort of Mrs. Leete Elliott, the band easily upheld precedent and maintained itself as outstanding.

The evening of April 28 found the auditorium filled with music and students, and the concert was a success, musically and financially. Other spring highlights were the band's public appearances with the W. A. A. C. Caravan and on Memorial Day when the band maintained its traditional high standing.

For the first time in its history the band selected officers this year.

Girls' Chorus

The Girls' Chorus, consisting of approximately fifty-five members, completed a very successful year. The Chorus sang for the P. T. A. on several occasions, and also at various assemblies throughout the year.

The Christmas program was under the direction of Mrs. Leete Elliott, and was presented before the Assembly. The soloists were Merle Wilson and Carolyn Bridges, and the narrator was Aznef Bizdikian.

On April 28 the chorus participated in a joint concert with the Rutland High School band. This was the first concert of this type to be held in the school, but the acclaim with which it was received should be an incentive to make it an annual affair. Proceeds from the admission charged went to the school music fund for instruments, trips, etc.

Miss Ruth Eddy was accompanist for the chorus.

Monitor Squad

"Tear gas, machine guns, bombs, knives, hatchets——"

Indispensable as always, the monitor squad curtailed hoodlumism between classes and kept traffic running smoothly in the halls. To prevent needless walking, a new monitor's post was established in front of the office. During the air raid drills the squad kept things functioning according to plan. In March, the Monitor's dance featuring Ianni's orchestra held the spotlight. The crowning achievement of the year was the editing of a pamphlet and guidebook under the supervision of faculty adviser, Miss Audrey St. Clair. This book constitutes the class gift. Its purpose will be to familiarize Freshmen and new students with the rules of R. H. S., to acquaint them with the layout of the school, and to give them an idea of the type of conduct that will be expected of them.

The officers were John Phillips, Head Monitor and Merle Wilson, Secretary-Treasurer.

 Second Row: Betty Jane Hayden, Rosemary Salebra, Ruth Rudin, Joanne Roberts, Betty Morse, Carol Eaton, Beverly Barker, Susan Eddy, Eleanor Smith, Charlotte Raymond.
 Third Row: Virginia Gregory, Dorothy Brown, Juanita Upton, Barbara Spaulding.

Forensic Society

Should women serve on juries? Vermont voters responded affirmatively, but before they came to this decision, the R. H. S. Forensic Society used the question as the basis for one of their panel discussions, which were held to give members the opportunity to express their opinions about current local and national questions. Other subjects discussed were: "How can we provide the necessary manpower for the army, industry, and agriculture?" and "Can we afford to have race prejudice in our democracy today?"

The club made a study of debating, and several debates were held, one of the most interesting being on the subject, Resolved: that all girls at Rutland High School should be required to take one year of home economics.

And what R. H. S. er can forget those successful sandwich and cookie sales, which were sponsored by the Forensic Society?

Dorothy Whitney served as president of the club, while Jean Leavitt was vice-president, Irma Spahn, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. L. Mabel Morrill, faculty adviser.

Commuters' Club

The publication of this Talisman marks the completion of another successful year by the Commuters' Club under the able supervision of Miss Katherine M. Moran. With Merritt Thomas at the helm, the Commuters' program rolled off to a spectacular start with presentation of a Thanksgiving dance decorated in autumn colors.

Meetings were held the first Monday in every month, although a more representative, if less formal atmosphere was created during the lunch hours in Room 5. During such periods "A sandwich in the mouth is worth three in the lunch pail" became the Commuters' by-word, but exclusive of whatever frivolity it may have embraced, Room 5 instigated the tightening of many knots of friendship, and witnessed the cultivation of many worthwhile companions.

In accordance with its policy of past years the Commuters' Club has provided recreational facilities for the amusement and diversion of its members during noon hour, and these were especially enjoyed due to the severity of the winter. Ping-pong and basketball were popular during the winter months, while baseball on the athletic field claimed top honors with the coming of the spring months.

Camera Club

"What's the hypo for?" queries a diligently listening, but dubious Freshman member of the Camera Club. "Well-l-l" drawls Edwin Sharp, as he endeavors to explain one of the deeper mysteries of photographic technique to the youngster—and so we learn of what went on at Camera Club meetings.

At various times lectures were delivered by William Ginsburg and Ronald Reid on different phases of photography—enlarging, night photography and printing. Projection programs, salons, and club outings were planned and carried out by the executive board. Training in darkroom work was also given to the neophytes.

The club was dealt a serious blow, when its faculty adviser, Mr. Andrew J. Boratis, left for active service with the United States Marine Corps. However the president was able to carry on with the plans that had been formulated.

The club's officers were as follows:

EDWIN SHARP	President
RONALD REID	Vice-President
AUDREY TOWER	Secretary

Standing: William Ginsburg, Edwin Sharp, Reginald Swyer, Robert Osgood, Donald Gillam, Thomas Bassett, Robert Barber, Roger Stevens, Newman Rome, Ronald Reid.
Seated: Helen Edmunds, Audrey Tower.

Front Row: Nan Bradder, Harold Murray, Anne Greene.

Bomarte Club

This year, the Bomarte Club's activities have been concerned chiefly with patriotism. Early in the school year, the members of the club made posters and displays boosting the sale of war stamps and bonds. Many of the signs around the stamp and bond-selling booth were made by members of Bomarte. They also helped in the Jeep Drive. Various members had special projects, such as modeling in clay, oil painting and soap carving. Interest was high in a new field of painting wooden articles. Many Christmas presents were painted in Bomarte this year—trays, waste baskets, rings, bracelets, plates, etc. If you attended the assembly in April put on by the art classes, you saw the work of many pupils in Bomarte.

The officers of the club performed their duties capably. Elizabeth Jenney was elected president of Bomarte; Alyce Nemara, vice-president; Patty Koltonski, secretary; and Anne Greene, treasurer. Although the club's activities were not so varied as they have been previously, the membership was good and much was accomplished.

Second Row: Jean Kudera, Betty Plumley, Cynthia Wilson, Shirley Ross, Rose Marie Rousseau.

Home Economics

The members of the Home Economics Club which is supervised by Miss Vera A. Perkins, held their usual interesting meetings every two weeks throughout the year.

Among the activities of the club was the making and outfitting of ten soldier's kits for boys going overseas. Money for this project was provided by the National Honor Society.

Miss Vera Egelston spoke on vocations at one of the meetings. A demonstration on Wartime Cookery was given for the club by four members of the Sophomore Home Ec. Class. Other matters of social etiquette were presented by Miss Perkins and discussed by the group.

The purpose of the club this year was to develop more valuable home and community members through learning to make the most of oneself; developing pleasant attitudes toward family and classmates; and contributing to the War effort whenever possible. The club has aroused marked interest among its members and has quickened their sense of personal responsibility for appearance and manners.

Litamis

Don't those trophies in the library shine? And didn't everyone grab eagerly for those new books just as soon as they were placed on the shelves? If you believe in giving credit where credit is due, then give it to the Litamis Club, for it was the underclassmen in this organization who polished the trophies, while the upperclassmen, supervised by Miss Anna Maughan, faculty adviser, had the task of getting the new books ready for borrowers.

These were not the only activities of the club, which completed a successful year with the largest membership in its history. At the meetings held twice a month, book reviews were given by Miss Audrey St. Clair and Mrs. L. Mabel Morrill, literary games were played, and short plays were enacted.

With money derived from the sale of candy, the club was able to purchase defense stamps.

Red and White

"Is that assignment in yet?" "This copy is ready for the printer."
"Did you get that ad?"

This is typical of the "Red and White" room conversation as the thirty-one members of the editorial and business boards, aided by their faculty adviser, Miss Frances W. Field, struggled gallantly to bring twenty-five issues of the school paper before the public.

Editor-in-chief Joyce Wood and her staff of journalists were in charge of the editorial end of the publication, while the business board, under their manager, Dorothy Dahlgren, visited the city's business establishments to secure advertisements.

The paper completed a successful year, both journalistically and financially, and won a second-place rating in its class in the annual Columbia Scholastic Press Association contest.

Football

Rutland High's Red Raiders waded through a stiff eight-game schedule during the 1942-43 football campaign, winning six contests while losing but two to take their third Vermont State scholastic title in the six years that Coach Lloyd Flaitz has guided Raider gridiron fortunes.

Four Redskin varsity gridders, Marvin Berger, Captain Al Romano, Dom Ferraro, and Earl Fredette won first team positions on the 1943 All-State schoolboy eleven, while two other Raiders, Al Merritt and Walt Hasbrook, won second team berths. Marv Berger gained the distinction of polling the highest number of votes in the All-State selections.

Captain Al Romano, Dom Ferraro and Al Merritt in the backfield, and Walt Hasbrook, Marv Berger, Joe Hitzel, John Coloutti and Mel Sheppard in the line, performed brilliantly for the Red and White cause throughout the long campaign. The loss of these seniors through graduation will be a severe blow to the 1933-44 grid plans.

However, several newcomers to the Rutland High football ranks came through with outstanding records and will serve as a nucleus around which next year's eleven will be molded. Earl Fredette, who won a first team end position in the All-State poll played his first year of varsity football as did Bob Kehoe, Dave Molenaar, Pat Piscopo, Tommy O'Brien, Johnny Ferraro, Merritt Clifford, Joe Kudera, Chad Loveland, Kermit Upton, Frank Belock and Elio Fillipo.

Football

The Raider backfield of Romano, Merritt, Ferraro and Pratico was respected by Raider opponents as a powerful offensive and defensive unit. Captain Al Romano, who enlisted in the United States Marine Corps shortly after the end of the football season, spearheaded the attack from the fullback position. Dom Ferraro supplied a fleetfooted running attack, a potent punting defense, and a deadly accurate passing attack from the left half-back berth. Phil Pratico, Captain-elect of next year's eleven served as a brilliant blocking back and Al Merritt at quarterback was the Raider field general who directed the campaign.

Marv Berger, Walt Hasbrook, John Coloutti, Mel Sheppard and Joe Hitzel were outstanding in the Raider line. The defensive and offensive ability of all of these grid-ders was a vital factor in the state title drive of the Raiders during the 1943 season.

The highlight of the campaign was a 20-7 victory over Mount St. Joseph, the traditional Rutland High rival. The MSJ eleven scored on the first play of the game, but the Raiders came back in the initial quarter to tie the game at 7-all and then went on to win easily. Al Romano and Dom Ferraro led the Raiders to their sixth straight victory over Mount St. Joseph.

Besides winning the mythical city title, the Raiders also took the mythical southern Vermont championship with victories over Bellows Falls (28-7), Brattleboro (22-0), Mount St. Joseph (20-7) and West Rutland (19-0).

The only Vermont state team to defeat the Raiders was Springfield High (14-0), but the Cosmopolitans' record of three wins, one defeat, and one tie could not compare with the brilliant Raider victory trail.

The Raiders encountered but two northern Vermont elevens during the 1943 season. The Flaitzmen defeated St. Mary's of St. Albans (19-6) in the season's opener, and handed Burlington High's Seahorses a 7-6 setback later in the campaign. The second Raider loss came at the hands of a strong, Whitehall, New York eleven who defeated the Flaitzmen 12-6. Since this setback did not count in the state grid standings, it did not mar the Raiders' Vermont State record.

Basketball

Seldom does a coach produce a winning combination during his first year on the job, and yet Coach Leo Keefe stepped into the traces as Rutland High's head basketball coach last fall and when the smoke of battle had cleared, emerged as the "guiding light" which brought the Raiders one of their most successful seasons on record.

Only four veterans returned to the Raider fold for the 1943 season. Captain Al Merritt, Alternate-Captain Dom Ferraro and Dick Davine, seniors, and Phil Pratico a junior, were the only seasoned campaigners, but several former junior varsity hoopers came through with some fine play for the Red and White.

The Raiders faced a stiff assignment in tackling a long twenty-two game schedule, but although they were sometimes forced to play three games a week, the Keefemen finished the season with a brilliant record of sixteen victories and but six defeats for a percentage of .727.

The Raiders defeated every team that beat them with the exception of Mount St. Joseph's Academy quintet which won the mythical city title by scores of 38-28 and 46-39 in two hard-fought contests.

With the advent of Coach Keefe to the head-coaching position came a strong feeling of team play and school spirit. Previously, one or possibly two Raiders would top the 100 point mark with one scorer far outdistancing the others. This year's campaign, however, produced five high scorers: Al Merritt, Dom Ferraro, Dick Davine, Tommy O'Brien and Johnny Ferraro, all of whom passed the century goal, while a sixth, Joe Kudera, shaded the mark. This is an indication of the spirit of team play that was a main factor in Raider victories during the 1943 season.

Statistically the Raiders were outstanding. In twenty-two games they scored better than forty points per game, while holding their opponents to 623 markers, or twenty-five points per game. During the long season, the Raiders attempted 1499 shots from the floor and connected on 361 for a percentage of .240 and in the foul shooting department they surpassed even this fine mark, collecting 159 of 292 attempts from the free line for a percentage of .540.

Basketball

Captain Al Merritt, Dom Ferraro and Dick Davine, the only three seniors on the team were the three highest scorers on Coach Keefe's initial Raider basketball combine. Merritt's steady scoring brought him the high scoring honors, with Ferraro and Davine close behind. Davine played only thirteen games, however, and collected the highest single game total at West Rutland with a twenty-three point showing. Ferraro's head's-up play-making and deadly accurate shooting made him a valuable cog in the Raider's triumphs, while Merritt's ability as a floor general will be missed when the 1944 season opens.

Despite the fact that these three highest scorer will be graduated this year, the prospects for the 1944 season are bright if the juniors of draft age are not called into the Armed Services. With such sharp shooters as Tommy O'Brien, Johnny Ferraro, Joe Kudera, Captain-elect Phil Pratico, Earl Fredette and Warren Hoadley returning next year, Rutland High will be well represented on the court.

Johnny Ferraro, freshman center, was one of the outstanding players in the southern section of the state last season, and playing his first year of varsity basketball scored a total of 109 points. His court prowess and experience will be put to good use in future Raider teams.

Besides directing the Raider varsity to one of the most brilliant records in the history of basketball at R. H. S., Coach Keefe guided his junior varsity cagers to an undefeated record of thirteen straight victories. The Raider JV's won the mythical city junior varsity title, and with Al Beauchamp, Pat Piscopo, Ray Murphy and Bob Kehoe coming up from JV ranks to varsity berths next year, the Raiders will have a wealth of strong reserve material.

The Raiders opened the season with five straight wins. They defeated Middlebury (47-34), Fair Haven (71-18), Brandon (40-19), the Alumni (36-33) and Whitehall (44-31), before Springfield handed them the short end of a 49-21 score.

The Raiders went on to defeat West Rutland (43-31) and Cathedral (40-27), before M. S. J. invaded the gymnasium and administered a 38-28 setback. After this defeat the Keefemen triumphed over Bellows Falls (41-26), were beaten by Whitehall (35-29), defeated Brattleboro (54-19) and were edged by Cathedral (26-25).

After the Cathedral "thriller," the Raiders hit their stride again and won four straight, defeating Proctor (46-23), Brattleboro (51-13), Bellows Falls (44-19) and Black River (43-23). The Mounties again beat the Keefemen in a hard fought contest on the Rutland Memorial Armory court (46-39), and the Raiders won a second place berth in the western division of the Southern Vermont League by defeating West Rutland (41-26).

A 33-25 victory over Springfield was the climax of the season. The Raiders worked as a unit throughout the game, and demonstrated the results attainable with Coach Keefe's system of coaching.

Black River Academy was defeated by a score of 38-26 in the Ludlow gym, and the season ended as the Keefemen were forced to take a 36-27 setback at the hands of a Burlington High quintet.

Class Basketball

Besides guiding his varsity and JV quintets through tough 1943 basketball schedules, Coach Leo Keefe, organized and directed the first Rutland High School Class Basketball League at R. H. S. this year. The initial League championship was won by a high-scoring senior class quintet which swept through the fifteen game loop schedule, winning eleven contests and dropping four.

The junior class quintet pushed the 1943 title holders hard throughout the season, and it wasn't until the last round that the seniors waltzed into the lead. Herrick Cooke, junior guard, edged Armand Stanzione, senior forward, for high scoring honors in the league by tossing in a single free throw more than the senior high scorer. Cooke collected 115 markers, while Stanzione flipped in 114.

Behind the juniors who won nine games and lost six in the league, were the sophomore class combine which won six battles and dropped nine, and the frosh cagers who won four scraps, and lost eleven.

Members of the championship senior class quintet, and their scoring for the 1943 season are: Armand Stanzione, 114; Ray Barker, 89; Mel Sheppard, 69; Douglas Scott, 56; Earle Clifford, 54; Walt Norton, 42; Johnny Phillips, 41; and Colby Aldrich, 25.

Outstanding cagers in the junior quintet besides Cooke were Captain Paul Loyzelle, Merritt Clifford, Chad Loveland and Bob Kehoe. Frank Belock,

Class Basketball

George Clifford, Clayton Shappy, Don Walker and Charlie Rielle were brilliant in the sophomore ranks, while Ralph Kehoe, Lefty Hall, Ray Davis and Charlie Hoag contributed much to the frosh cause.

Mr. Harold Graeme, Mr. Ellery Purdy and Mr. Lloyd Flaitz acted as coaches for the class teams, and each team was provided with bright new uniforms. The seniors were clad in blue and gold, the juniors in blue and white, the sophs in maroon and white and the frosh in white and red.

The organization of the class league was established for two reasons—first, to develop basketball material in the underclasses of R. H. S., so that future Raider fives will become better and better, and secondly to awaken dormant school spirit in Rutland High. The success of the league in both of these aims cannot be questioned for a glance at the records shows that several members of the class teams were promoted to junior varsity positions and that attendance and interest in games has greatly increased during the past year despite war restrictions.

The final standings of the class basketball league follows:

TEAM	WON	LOST	PCT.

Freshmen	4	11	.267

Track

Coach Howard Douglas' 1943 Rutland High track team enjoyed a very successful though curtailed season. The Raiders, under the guidance of Coach Douglas, romped to a close win over their Northern Vermont rivals, the Burlington Seahorses, in their only home meet of the schedule.

The final count of the Raider-Burlington meet was $60\frac{1}{2}$ - $56\frac{1}{2}$, a margin of but four points. Johnny Phillips sparked the Raiders to victory collecting 20 points by winning first places in the javelin throw, the broad jump, the hundred yard dash, and the hundred-forty yard low hurdles. Don Cassidy was second in the Raider scoring with 13 points gained by winning seconds in the discus, shot put and pole vault, and a third in the javelin throw.

Doug Scott, track "find" of the season, ran away from the field in the mile run displaying a tremendous finishing kick that sent him home in the fast time of 4 minutes and 52.6 seconds.

Stan Burns copped the four-hundred-forty yard dash in 58 seconds to add five points to the Raider cause.

Other Douglassmen who placed in the Seahorse meet and the points they scored are as follows: Dave Molenaar (8), Elmer Goodspeed (5), Sam Babbitt (3), Earle Clifford (2), Al Beauchamp ($1\frac{1}{2}$), Brad Rousseau (1) and "Red" Berry (1).

The Senior class relay quartet copped the class relays with Johnny Phillips, Stan Burns, Robert Barch and Marshall Baldwin running for the winners.

Boys' Leader Corps

Members of the Rutland High School Leader Corps have for the fifteenth consecutive year, under the supervision of Physical Education Director, Mr. Richard Hayden, conducted their program of advanced gymnastics, and participation in Physical Education classes. To keep up with the times this year, training similar to the Ranger-Commando course was added to the year's regular activities.

Another "added attraction" during the 1942-43 season was a series of sports moving pictures secured and presented by Director Hayden. Besides these movies, which were open to the whole school, the Corps held twenty-four meetings in the gymnasium.

Members of the Corps conducted and directed the annual pentathlon track event, officiated at Meldon Junior High basketball games and aided their director in organizing the Saturday morning grammar school gym classes. A Friday "parents' night" was the highlight of these classes. Members of the corps who assisted with this program were: Phil Hugny, Earle Clifford, Herrick Cooke and Richard Fuller.

Senior Corps members were: Phil Hugny, Earle Clifford, John Phillips and Paul Mehl.

Girls' Basketball

Don't try to tell R. H. S. girls that boys are the only ones who can play basketball; they know better! For while the male court squad was busy playing its games, the girls were running off their own basketball tournament in the form of an elimination contest, winners playing winners, and losers dropping out.

Room 101 defeated the other senior home rooms, Room 201, the other junior rooms, while Rooms 113 and 15 were sophomore and freshman champions, respectively. In the semi-finals, Room 113 defeated Room 201, and Room 101 was the winner in its contest with Room 15, thus making Rooms 101 and 113 the finalists.

Miss Alice Patch, girls' physical education instructor, was in charge of the tournament.

Field Hockey

Learning to drive, dribble, and stop the ball were all taught at weekly hockey practices under the supervision of our new coach, Miss Alice Patch. Of the fifty-nine who went out for hockey forty-three girls were chosen for the class teams. They were selected for their good work at practice and good attendance. Besides the players a referee, scorer, time keeper and linesmen had a chance to participate.

In the inter-class tournament that was played the winners were the Seniors who defeated the other three teams.

 Second Row: Juliet Jenney, Julia Gerdon, Janet Carder.
 Third Row: Avis Reynolds, Joan McKee, Dorothy Dahlgren, Helen Hleba.

 Second Row: Dorothy Whitney, Nancy Holt, Dorothy Dahlgren, Mildred Moore, Marion Stevens, Helen Hleba, Jean Leavitt.
 Third Row: Nan Bradder, Mary Louise Burditt, Mary Hleba, Joan McKee, Juliet Jenney.

Girls' Leader Corps

War work was the theme of the Girls' Leader Corps. Every member participated individually in some defense unit. Wristlets were knit by the members for the Red Cross, and they also delivered posters for the Red Cross drive. Several members served regularly at the local Air-Craft Warning Post.

The members under the direction of Miss Alice Patch met twice a month, once at school in the afternoon, and once each month in the home of one of the members in the evening.

The Girls' Leader Corps has the following requisites for membership: athletic ability, sportsmanship, leadership and scholarship.

President	JULIET JENNEY
Vice-President	MARION STEVENS
Secretary-Treasurer	JULIA GERDON

Baseball

When Coach Lloyd Flaitz, Raider pigskin and baseball mentor for the past six years left after the first of the year to join other members of the R. H. S. faculty already working for victory in the armed services, the Raiders' 1943 diamond plans were severely hit. However, Mr. Lewis McKerley, Head of the Commercial Department, took over the coaching, and began to mold the '43 Raider nine.

Proctor High School was invited to enter the Triangular League of the 1942 season, and loop officials changed the name of the league to the Southern Vermont Baseball League, with West Rutland High, Rutland High, Mount St. Joseph's Academy and Proctor's Phantoms composing the roster.

Only four regulars returned to the fold for this year's campaign, but three reserves from the '42 nine came through in early season practices to win starting berths, and a trio of newcomers also developed into first string material.

Earl Manning, number two hurler on the '42 nine, Captain Dom Ferraro, fleet-footed receiver, Al Merritt, reliable shortstop, and Colby Aldrich, capable hot corner guardian were the four regulars who formed the nucleus of this year's nine.

Frank Belock, Elmer Peck and Herrick Cooke who filled in at shortstop, second base and first base respectively during the 1942 season won starting berths, along with Johnny Ferraro, Merritt Thomas and Bob Kehoe who were newcomers to Raider diamond ranks.

As the tryout season progressed, Coach McKerley made several shrewd changes in the starting line-up carefully balancing the strong and weak points of his candidates. Colby Aldrich, accepted as the logical third sacker for the Raiders, was converted into a hard-hitting first baseman, while Herrick Cooke, who held down the initial sack as a reserve in the '42 season, became the Raider hot corner guardian.

Merritt Thomas was candidate for second base, but became a sensation in right field with extra base clouting, while Frank Belock, another infielder was put on the garden patrol and came up with some startling plays and the steadiest hitting on the team.

The batting feat of the season was Belock's six bingles including a pair of doubles in seven times at the platter during a double-header played with West Rutland midway through the Southern Loop campaign.

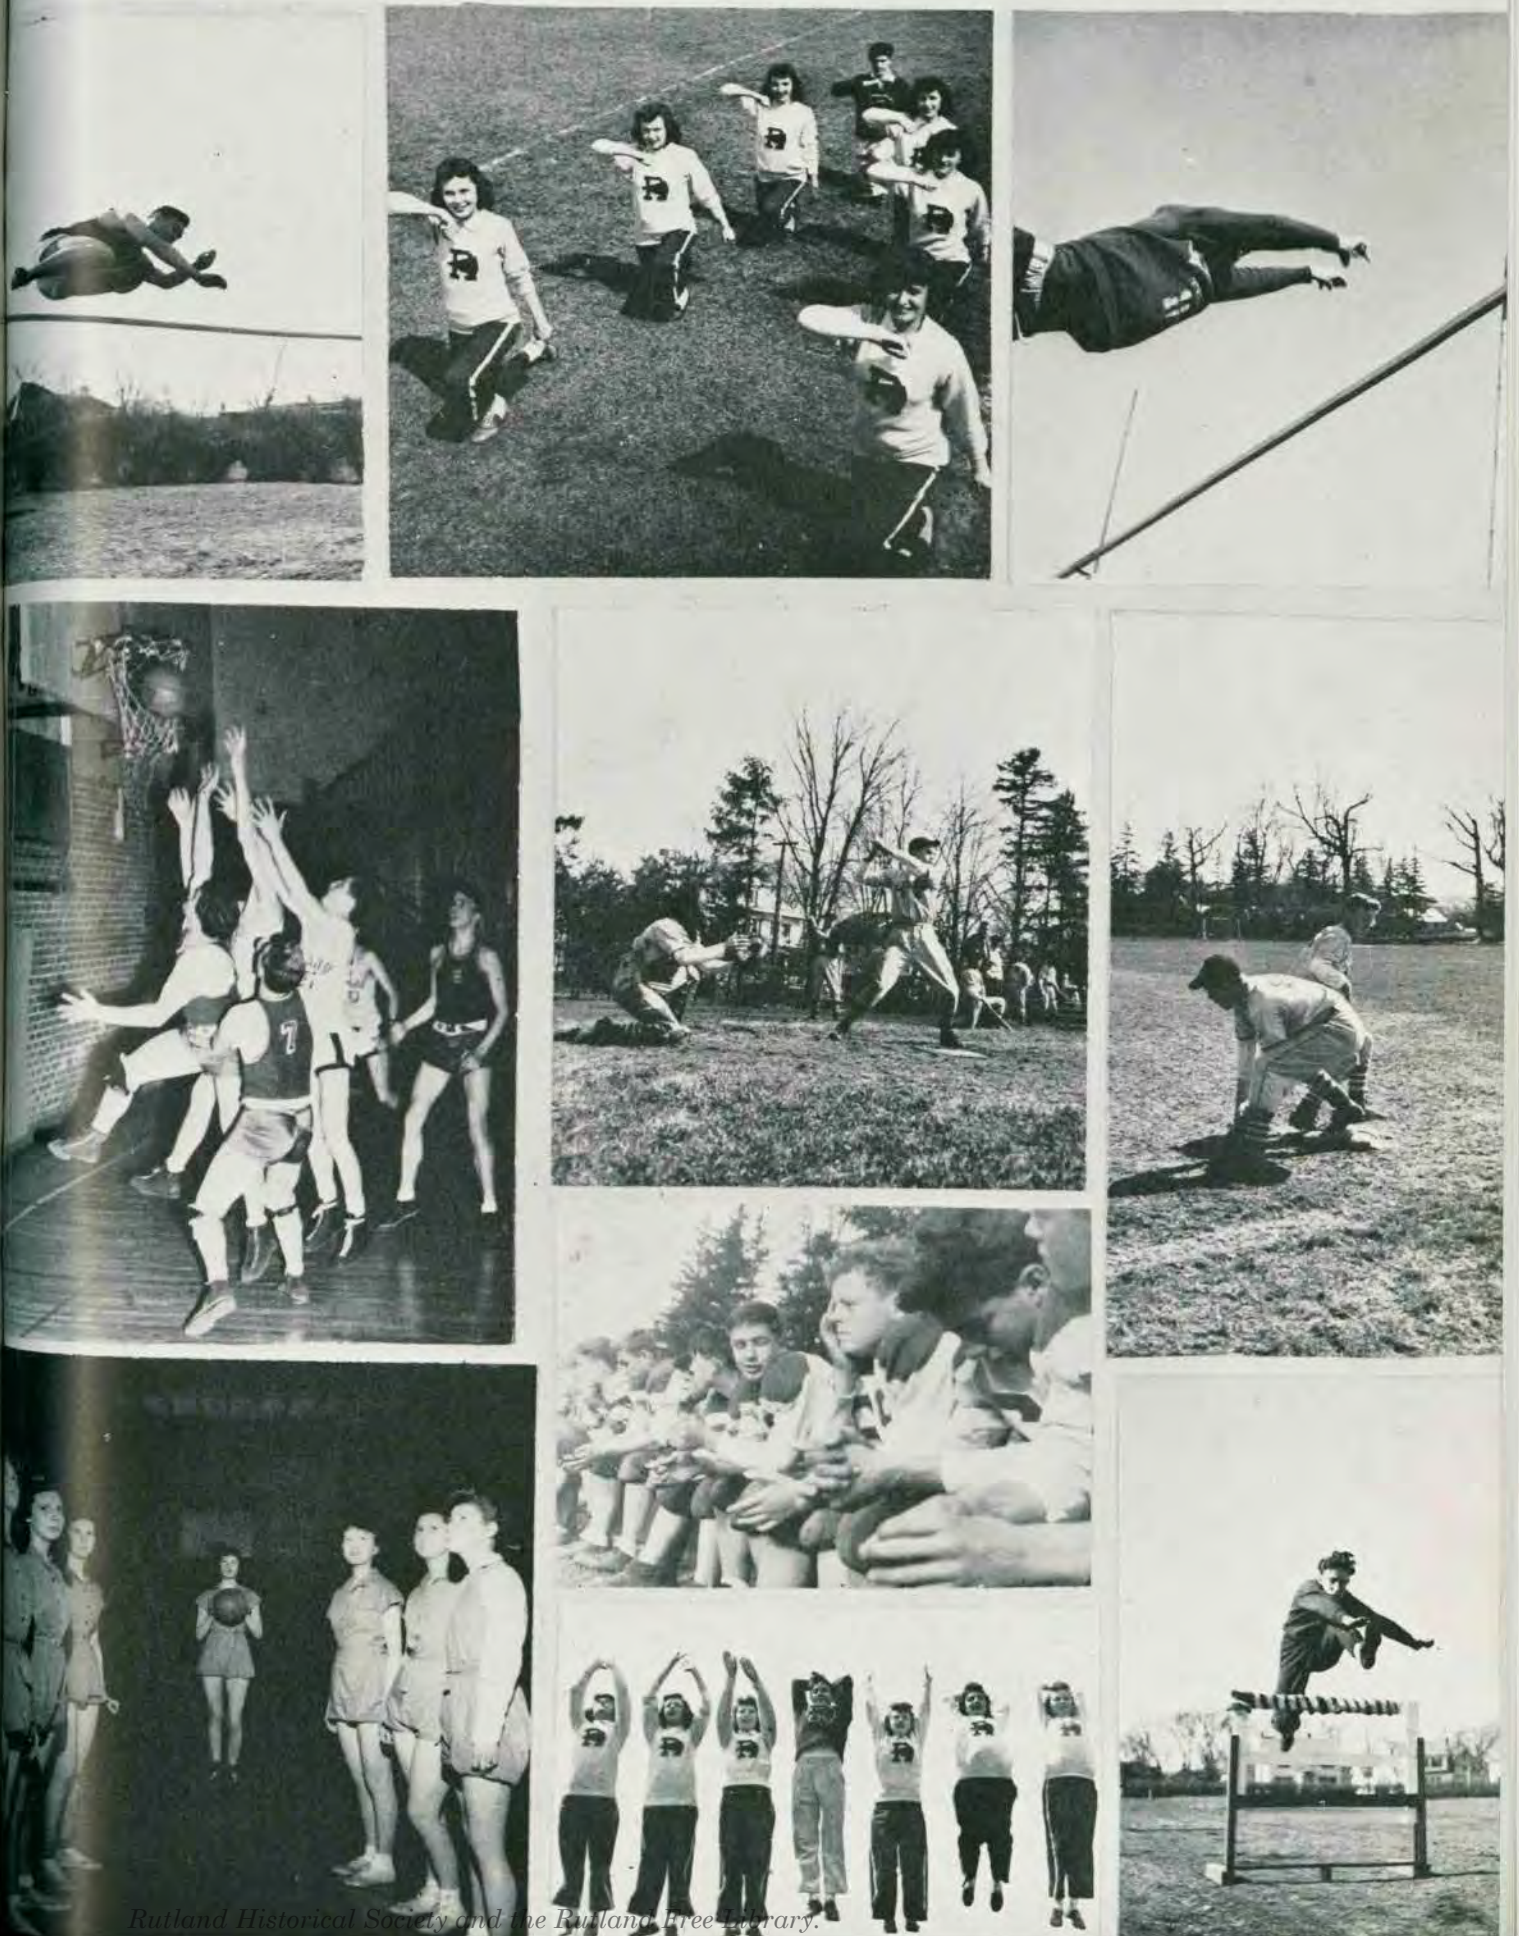

The Raiders defeated Pittsford High Panthers in the first games of the season, with Manning and Johnny Ferraro hurling one-hit ball, and again in the single Proctor game played on the Raider diamond Earle Manning and "Lefty" Hall teamed up to allow only one scratch bingle in the seven inning route. These two contests, together with Earle Manning's sterling performances in the Mount St. Joseph battles were the pitching masterpieces of the season.

The Raiders dropped the first M. S. J. tilt by a 4-1 tally, and nearly upset the Mounties on the return battle at St. Peter's field, before the Acads came from behind to cop a 3-2 win.

The seniors on the team, Aldrich and Peck hammered out the longest hits of the season in the Raiders' first game with Proctor High's Phantoms to easily take the distance-hitting honors for the season.

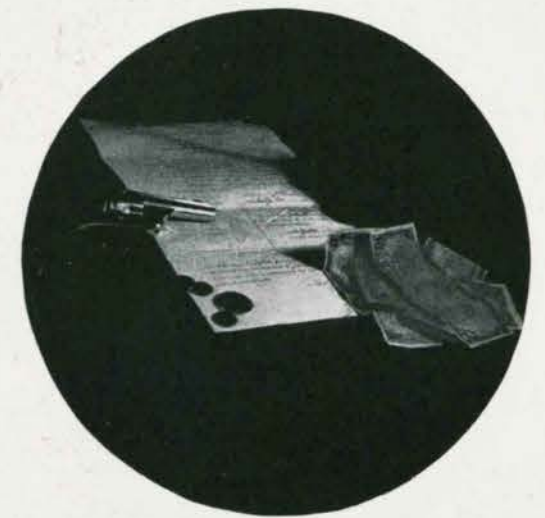

Ray Murphy, junior hurler turned in a victory in the Phantom fray, coasting home in front by a comfortable margin behind his hard-hitting mates. "Lefty" Hall, Fritz Dubler, Johnny Ferraro and Murphy will be left on the Raider mound staff to carry on for the '44 season, and will leave Coach McKerley with some promising pitching material for next year's nine. However, the loss of such veterans of Rutland High diamond warfare as Captain Dom Ferraro, Al Merritt, Elmer Peck, Mel Sheppard, Earl Manning and Colby Aldrich will be a stiff blow to the title aims of the 1944 Raider nine.

MORE THAN MEETS THE EYES

A yearbook is made up of more than type and pictures—there is real work and thought on every page. The students, the adviser, the printer and the engraver work as a unit combining their efforts to make the book a success. It was a pleasure to be part of that unit this year.

CLASS OF 1943—we offer you the complete facilities of this economical engraving service in the publication of your annual next year.

Our many years of experience in producing unusual layouts and quality engravings for hundreds of yearbooks, is your guarantee of satisfaction.

Aside from senior yearbooks we supply engravings of all kinds to hundreds of buyers throughout the country. Printers, publishers, advertisers, schools and manufacturers in the Rutland area may well investigate the economies of this service made possible by the handling of a large volume of work by mail. Send for the new "easy to use" rate scale.
